The Thomas Mann All Nations Lions Club

An International Community, Caring and Serving the Public Good

Founded in 1993 The Thomas Mann All Nations Lions Club (TMANLC) in Budapest was amongst the first Lions clubs that were established in Hungary after the removal of the Iron Curtain. The club is an English-language, multicultural community, comprising members from Hungary as well as from six other countries.

Being a social organization, the club is acknowledged as an organization serving the public good in Hungary. It does not only provide services that deliver basic help like for example food for children in need but, also promotes initiatives that make sure that children get proper education.

The Main Project:

Food for Hundreds of Socially Disadvantaged Families and Children

The TMANLC supports a program, which provides food to socially disadvantaged people at no costs. It is run by a community of Norbertine Sisters in Zsámbék, a town close to Budapest. The program is the basis for further social care services to those people in need.

Amongst the more than 1,000 recipients of this program are hundreds of families with minor children.

On a monthly basis the TMANLC contributes ca. 25% of the program's total food volume, using self-raised funds – the club manages this since approx. 20 years without any interruption.

Since Decades Every Month:
Personally Handled & In Constant Touch

The TMANLC members attach importance to ordering the donated food, fetching it at the provider's site and delivering it every month to Zsámbék personally and by themselves. At this opportunity the club members get the chance to meet the sisters and to gain an up-to-date insight into the sisters' work.

The TMANLC arranges 13 food deliveries to Zsámbék per year (11 normal sized deliveries – at Christmas the December delivery is twice the normal size).

Additionally, the club supports also the other social activities of the sisters and arrange additional donations and donations in kind for that (e.g., clothes, computers, schoolbags with school supplies).

Holistic Approach of the Sisters: Food, Schooling, Vocational Training

The Norbertine Sisters apply a holistic approach for helping children in need. They give them food, so that they get a proper basis for the day, train them on how to structure a day, provide them schooling and finally even vocational training.

For example, the sisters' trading school trains cooks and hospitality service specialists or offers an education for metal-working and wood-processing professions.

The sisters' program works. E.g., some of the trainees of the hospitality services program are working in high-class hotels today. However, the sisters need continuously funds and other support for their efforts.

More Than Just Food

Investing Time, Effort & Expertise

Since the Norbertine Sisters' work in Zsámbék is highly professional and very effective, the TMANLC is happy to contribute more than just food, financial donations and donations in kind.

So the club arranges once a year a communication training and career workshop for the young people looked after by the sisters for preparing them for the labor market. It is planned to turn this workshop into a continuous employment mentorship program.

Moreover, once a year the club is cooking for the families in need, providing them a warm meal and getting in this way an opportunity to meet the families and children in need in person.
